Activities:

- Unit 1 online class – 0 to 5 points
- Writing – responding to different scenarios – 0 to 5 points.

In this writing activity, you will address common challenges individuals face in everyday life. Your task is to respond to each scenario provided by offering advice, empathy, suggestions, and responses. Each response should be a complete paragraph.

Instructions:

Read the following scenarios carefully, ensuring you understand the problem presented. Begin each response with empathy, showing understanding and compassion towards the individual's situation.

Offer practical advice or suggestions to help alleviate the problem.

Your responses should be constructive and supportive, aiming to provide solutions or comfort to those facing difficulties.

Consider incorporating phrases or responses to the suggestions offered by others, demonstrating engagement with different perspectives.

Writing Structure:

Start each paragraph with an empathetic acknowledgment of the problem.

Follow with your advice or suggestions on how to address the issue.

Conclude with words of encouragement or support.

Aim for clarity, coherence, and empathy in your writing.

Selection of Topics:

Choose four topics from the provided list:

Difficulty sleeping due to noisy neighbors.

Struggle to find time for studying because of multiple jobs.

Communication issues with a boyfriend or girlfriend.

Missing a class and facing a meeting with the teacher.

Dealing with a significant credit card bill.

Problems with paying attention during an online class.

Conclusion:

Remember, your responses should offer practical solutions and emotional support to individuals facing these challenges.

Take your time to craft thoughtful and considerate responses for each scenario.

Embrace different perspectives and consider how your advice could positively impact those in need.
